"COLD-CATCHING."-It is coleworthy as a culious yet cass y explicable feet that few persons take cold who are not either silf-consciously careful, or featful, of the conerquences of exposure. If the attention be wholly divered from the existence of danger by some supreme concentration of thought, as, for example, when escaping from a house on fire or planging into cald water to save life, the effects of "chili" are sidom experienced. This alose should serve to suggest that the influence exerted by cold f. Is on the nervous system. The inmediate off els of a displacement of blood from the surface and its determination to the interest organs are not, as was once supposed, TILIZER, composed of Scuth Carolina Bone, sufficient to produce the sort of conges-tion that issues in i.flammation. It it were so, an i.flammatory condition would be the common characteristics of our bodily state. When the vascular system is healthy, and that part of the nervous apparatus by which the calibre of the vessels is controlled performs its proper fouctions normally, any disturbance of equilitrium in the circulatory system which my have been produced by external cold will be quickly adjusted. It is, therefore, on the state of the nervous system that everything depends, and it is, as we have said, on the pervous system the stress of a "chill" falls Consciousuess is one element in the production of a cold, and, when that is wanting the phenomenon is not very likely to eneus. It is in this way that persons who do not cultivate the fear of cold caresing are not. as a rule, subject to this infliction. This is one reason why the habit of wiapping up tends to if used according to directions the best results create a morbid susceptibility. The mind by its fear begetting precau too keeps the nervous system on the alers for impressions of cold, and the centres are, so to say, panic stricken, when even a slight sensation occurs. Cold app'ied to the surface, even in the form of a gentle carrent of air somewhat lower in temperature then the skip, will produse the "feeling" of "chil." Conversely a thought will often give rise to the "feeling" of cold applied to the surface-for example, of 'cold water rusning down the back." Mary of the sensations of cold or heat which are experienced by the hypersensitive from the clearest o water, and of unusual PUhave no external causs. They are purely ideational in their mode of origination and ideal in fact. - London Lancet.

Alexandria Gazette and Virginia Advertiser

[From the Lynchburg News.] The Alexandria Gazette has reached the good old age of eighty-three, but has all the vigor and | Royal streets.

[From the Warrenton Index] The Alexandria Gazette enters upon its 83rd year on the ist of January. Its vigor and en-terprise increase with time.

[From the Baltimorean]

The Alexandria G.z. atte has entered upon its 831 volume. It is only old in years, however. In enterprise it is still youthful and full of vigor.

[From the Gordonsville Grzatte.] The Alexandri . Gazette has commenced its eighty-third volume, and is one of the best edited papers in Virginia. We wish it a continuous Eu.coss.

[From the Richmond State] On New Year's day the Alexandria Gazatte reached its eighty-third year, and is the oldest paper in the Commonwealth. Llay it live a

[From the Marlboro, Md., Gazatte,] With the New Year the Alexandria G. zette eached its Sid vest. It is the oldest and bes newspaper to Virginia, and is conducted with such conservatism and activity as command and receive a liberal support.

[From the Loudeun Mirrior]

On Monday, the Alexandria Gazette entered upon the eighty third year of its existence. The Gaz-tte is a good paper, and we hope, notwith-standing its old age, that there are yet in store for it many years of increased and increasing

[From the Locaturg Washington.]
The Alexandria Gazette, that admirable and well conducted paper, entered upon its eightythird year on Monday last. The Gazette is an able and consistent advecate of the State credit -and the true policy of the State May it continue to prosper.

[From the Fredericksburg News.] The Alexandria Gazatte, clarum et venerabile, entired upon its eighty-third volume Jan-uary 25, an age attained by few papers in this country. The Gazatta, like old wine, only improves with age, and we heartily wish it many happy returns of a prosperous antiversary.

[From the Charlottesville Chronicle] That venerable journal, the Alexandria Gazette, one of the best papers published in Virginis or cut of it, entered upon its 83rd volume last Monday. It presses onward with vigor, its "natural force" unabated by the lapse of time or the readjustments of politics.

From the Staunton Vindicator. That lusty and vigorous visux garcon of the Virginia press the "Alexandria Gazette," has attained its eighty-third year. Edgar Snowden is its editor. Men may come and men may go, but the old "Gazette" keeps up the enterprise and freshness of its you'h, when as now it floated the name of Snowden at the mast head.

[From the Norfolk Virginian] The Alexandria Gazette on the first of the year entered upon the eighty third year of its existence as a journal. Few Emerican journals can show such longevity—a longevity that car-ries with it all the vigor of young menhood. We congratulate the Gizette and express the hope that each new year will bring to it an increase of prosperity.

[From the Rockingham Register.] On Monday last the Alexandria Gazette en-tered upon its 83:d year. Like old wine, the Grzette improves with age, and stands to-lay, isg our humble judgment, without a peer in the Oldy Dominion. It is always found on the right side, and we hope it may live a thousand years, and these its success may be commensurate with its desch ta.

On New Year's day the Alexandria Cazette reached its joighty-inird year. It has always reached its eighty-inird year. It has always been conducted with ability, courtesy and enterprise, and well deserves the support it has so long enjoyed. May it never grow less, but continue to express its wholesome influence on public intelligence and morals. Edgar Snowden has been at the mast head long enough for old men to remember it. The paper is the oldest in Virginia.

[From the Bridgewater (Va.) Journal.] Bighty-'wo years ago that able, well conducted, and popular newspaper, the "Alexandria eszette," was born into the newspaper world. Like a leaf shaken by the wind, men at eighty grow feeble and their limbs totler. But not so with the Gazatte. We would not like to say how long we have been one of its readers, for that would make us young no more; but we will say that we read the Gaz the before we read Casar and Plutareb, and it is as young now and as full of life, as it was forty years ago. May it
